Sermon Notes

Psalm 22 “The God-Forsaken Son”

David wrote Psalm 22 but it is clearly a prophecy concerning the crucifixion of Christ: the Son forsaken by the Father for our sake.

Before we can understand what the resurrection is about, we must first understand what the cross is about.

God poured His wrath out on His Son because of His great love for us.

On This Day: At noon, April 13, 1742, the world first heard the lovely overture, memorable arias and majestic choruses of the most famous oratorio ever written. There has not been a year since then that George Frederick Handel's Messiah has not been performed in concert halls around the world. The text, by Charles Jennens, pulled together fragments of scripture relating to Christ. Old and New Testament passages were placed beside each other where a relationship existed. He succeeded in his intent, for Messiah portrays Christ as Son of God, the fulfillment of prophecy, Savior of the world, and coming King. Handel united the whole into a magnificent artwork, writing the work in twenty-three fervent days, despite having already suffered a stroke. The music often rises to great loveliness and power. Passion builds until the climactic Hallelujah chorus. Of this chorus, Handel said in his broken English, "I did think I did see all heaven before me and the great God himself!"
